Join the tamalada! (That’s a tamale party!)

The best way to make tamales is to have everyone help out—and that’s just what we’re doing in our cooking classes with kids in Santa Fe and Española. By the end of this month, Cooking with Kids educators will have made 13,400 tamales, so it’s a good thing we have the help of nearly 5,000 kids!

We’re honoring this New Mexico favorite by using as many local products as we can, including blue corn meal, ground red chile, roasted green chiles, and fresh sweet corn. View the recipes here: Vegetable Tamales and Red Chile Sauce.

New Collaboration with Moving Arts Española

Cooking with Kids partnered this fall with Moving Arts Española to provide cooking and tasting classes to students from Ohkay Owingeh Community School. MAE’s recent newsletter mentions this new partnership - click here to read more!

Superchefs in our Community

Superchefs are not only ambassadors for Cooking with Kids, but many of them also go above and beyond to become advocates for change in our food system. Two of our veteran Superchefs, Rocky Durham and Martin Rios, were recently featured in a Local Flavor article “Chefs for Change”. We are honored to work with such dedicated professionals!

Also, a great big THANK YOU to our 2018 Superchefs, who helped Cooking
