

The new school year has started, and we're excited to welcome Chimayo Elementary School and Nina Otero Community School to the Cooking with Kids family! Over 5,000 kids in 18 schools will participate in CWK this school year. To kick things off, we're celebrating the bounty of Northern New Mexico's harvest with fun (and safe) in-person lessons. Keep scrolling to check out what's cooking.

Melon Tasting with local watermelon, cantaloupe, honeydew, and some fun local melon varieties

New Mexico Harvest Soup featuring locally-grown produce (including green chile, of course!)

Chef Showdown at Del Sur Market!

Cooking with Kids Chef/Educator Mariela Rodriguez was one of four local chefs to compete in a "Chef Showdown" at the Santa Fe Farmers' Market Del Sur on Tuesday, September 21. Using the required ingredient of local potatoes, the chefs selected other available produce from the market and prepared unique dishes for market-goers to sample and vote for their favorite. A big shout out to all the participating chefs and their teammates from Big Brothers Big Sisters!
